

Speech Final – Take Home, Open Book

Please submit your answers in paragraph form on a separate sheet. If you can, typed responses would be appreciated.

Due January 7, 2009

1. Describe some of the different ways to organize your speech and explain when each would be appropriate, using examples.
2. Describe the five levels of communication: intrapersonal, interpersonal, group, mass, and public communication. Give real life examples for each level.
3. Describes the pluses and minuses of visual aids using examples.
4. How can a speaker make his or her conclusion effective? Explain using examples.
5. There are different types of persuasion and influence. Explain how you could influence others using public speaking, focusing on one type of persuasion. Feel free to reference your own persuasive speech in your answer.
6. There are many ways of delivering a speech including using a manuscript, delivering it extemporaneously, speaking impromptu, and having your speech memorized. Describe the benefits and detractions of each method of delivery.
7. What does it mean to preview your ideas and why is it important?
8. What is credibility and why is it important? How can you build up your credibility?
9. What should students consider when they do research? How can one research most effectively?
10. Why is outlining important? How can outlines be used?